PORTLAND DESERVES BETTER

Our once vibrant and beautiful city has become a place of rampant homelessness, record breaking violence and crime, shuttered businesses, and piles of trash and garbage. The Council has failed us. It's time for a change.

End Urban Camping - Homelessness in Portland is out of control. My plan is to address the homeless crisis head on - by putting a complete stop to it. The problem is getting worse because city and county policies reward and enable homelessness, which just attracts more of it. Allowing human being to live in the elements atop their own waste has become a health and safety hazard. We must be compassionate to those who struggle with illness. Part of the clean up process must be helping to connect those in need with available resources.

Public Safety - Portland is no longer a safe city. 2020 saw a historic high of homicides, and gun violence plagues our city. My goal is to provide safety in all communities in Portland by restoring our police force with diverse men and women who are passionate about public safety.

Stop Safe Rest Villages - Safe Rest Villages are not the answers to ending Portland's homeless crisis. They are not a safe or compassionate solution. The City's commitment to keeping a low barrier of entry to these sites creates high risk environments that foster crime, litter and drug addiction.

Affordable Housing - Housing costs are a function of supply and demand. Portland must incentivize building, not penalize it. I plan to end inclusionary zoning and dismantle any housing policies that are not about health and safety. Let's let builders build and get rid of unworkable ideas that have only let to increased rents and housing shortages.
