Executive Summary

The Juvenile Court Trial Unit prosecutes juvenile crimes ranging from misdemeanors to homicides. It has three primary functions: 1) prosecuting juveniles who have committed criminal offenses, 2) litigating child protection cases in Juvenile Court, and 3) litigating cases where the abuse or neglect of a child necessitates effort be made to free the child for adoption. The program offer backfills funding previously supplied by the State of Oregon's Juvenile Dependency, Title-IVe, and Termination of Parental Rights grant programs.

Program Summary

The delinquency function involves the prosecution of juveniles who have committed all but the most serious (Ballot Measure 11) crimes. This includes cases ranging from minor misdemeanors to serious felonies. The unit works closely with the Department of Community Justice (DCJ) Juvenile Division in developing appropriate sanctions aimed at accountability, community protection and reformation of the child or youth.

The dependency function involves working closely with the State Department of Human Services (DHS) and other agencies to protect children who come to the attention of authorities as a result of abuse or neglect. Deputy District Attorneys are responsible for proving child protection cases (dependency cases) in Juvenile Court and for working with DHS and other agencies and partners to fashion plans which will provide protection for the child and opportunities for the parents to mitigate the dangers which brought the child to the attention of the court in the first place.

All efforts are made to keep the family unit intact, however when those efforts are exhausted the Termination of Parental Rights deputy DAs work in close collaboration with the State Department of Human Services to free these children for adoption. Services provided to law enforcement, juvenile courts, DCJ and DHS include filing petitions for delinquency, dependency or termination of parental rights, meeting with victims and witnesses, seeking restitution on behalf of victims, coordinating with juvenile court counselors, DCJ and DHS and trying cases in court.
