Proposal for Repurposing

Submitted by

Charles Ong

9401 NE Sunderland Road, #20

Portland, Oregon 97211

MISSION VISION

Contracting a safe and welcoming building in which students can stabilize, be healthy in a supportive community environment, and practice learning to trust self and others.

DESIGN SUMMARY

Establishing a secure community college campus featuring on-site classes, paid vocational training, and twenty-four hour student accommodations and services.

SUPPORT SUMMARY

Contracting all operations of the facility including the interior and exterior audio-visual monitoring systems that promote personal and collective safety from self and others.

SERVICES SUMMARY

The property is ideally suitable for the practicing of routine behavior changes by individuals within the controlled and structured group-living situation, and for documenting accountability through the fulfillment of many individually contracted agreements per term.

June 4, 2014

Greetings,

I am proposing leasing the facility from September 2014 through October 2016, with renewal options in October 2016.

Proposing to use the facility as is without any changes or alterations other than painting some interior walls with murals.

This institutional building is designed and built as a county jail to house 500 adults. The need may not have arisen, this proposal suggests that need might yet arise.

Using the facilities productively without alteration seems prudent.

Host Campus proposes this Bybee Lake property to be its Flag Ship inspiring community college satellite campuses in various urban, suburban, rural or rustic locations. Topical multi-media collaborative elaboration ensues.

My professional, verifiable, expertise spans retail, wholesale, manufacturing, corporate management, and community colleges; Baccalaureate of Science, Sociology (Education and Counseling Psychology); Certification as Energy Analyst for Residential, Commercial and Institutional building by the Oregon State Department of Energy, appropriate technology, organic agriculture and food processing; Hands-on-the-job training as salaried Treatment Team Member with four(4) juvenile residential treatment facilities, group home and emergency shelter operations, and as Resident Manager and Case Manager with a transitional housing program serving adult ex-felons, etcetera.

Should the proposal proceed to the next level, I foresee letters of interest and intent that can only be ascertained thereafter.

Sincerely,

Charles Ong
Host Campus Representative

Wapato.RFI.2014
Multnomah County
401 North Dixon
Portland, OR 97227

To Whom It May Concern:

The Oregon Media Production Association (OMPA) has engaged in conversation with a variety of private and public stakeholders regarding the acquisition or rented use of the Wapato property currently owned and operated by Multnomah County. At this time, these conversations have yielded significant interest but no financial commitments. That reality, combined with the short timeline provided for in the Request for Interest, has left us with a limited ability to submit a formal response to this RFI. It is clear that the Wapato facility has the potential to serve as a location that could foster the growth of the film, video and media production industry, and help contribute to the local and statewide economy in this sector.

There are many factors that influence the growth of the industry in Oregon. We have made significant progress by increasing the amount of projects recruited to Oregon from approximately $6million in 2003 to over $120million last year. Infrastructure continues to be developed to meet the needs of the growing industry. More space to affordably locate the production, administration and development of media content is one of the infrastructure pieces that we will benefit from growing.

With that in mind, OMPA would like to see that the film, video, and media production is considered as a possible viable and productive future use of the Wapato property. While at this time, we are not able to provide details regarding the potential acquisition or specific potential uses of this property, OMPA feels that Multnomah County should consider the future use of Wapato – either in whole or part – for film, video and media production purposes.

OMPA submits this response to see that the film, video and media production sector is considered as a potential future use of the Wapato facility. We will continue to seek out and work with financiers and other private stakeholders as well as state and local government agencies to explore the use of Wapato as an incubator, maker space, and administrative hub for this growing and creative industry in Oregon.

Thank you for your consideration.

We understand the highest and best use of forgotten assets and we think this property is perfect for a win/win result of making use of an underutilized asset that is costing the taxpayers money to own and maintain. We have the perfect scenario to put this asset to work and turn it into a tax paying asset with the focus on creating jobs and creating a resource for transition for disabled veterans, veterans, homeless and this in need of a fresh start to get their lives back on track. As in all of our previous series the asset is merely the platform to inspire people to be the most productive citizens that can possibly be, a true redemption story that will have all Americans proud of what this asset has become and have all taxpayers who helped fund this facility be relieved and proud to have provided the platform for what we are about to transform this asset into.

Wapato RFI 2014

Round-op Alpha Acquisition and Repurposing: Multnomah County Wapato Facility

14355 North Bybee Lake CourtPortland, Oregon 97203, USA

Submission date: June 3, 2014

Sent to: wapato.rfi.2014@multco.us

I. General Repurposing Concept and Specific Program for the Property

In response to the Request for Interest by the Multnomah County in relation to the Wapato Facility, Round-op Alpha hereby confirms its interest for the offered and available correctional facility and submits its general repurposing and its specific program for the Wapato Facility that is in line with Multnomah County's RFI goal and objectives to maximize the use of the property.

I.I. General Repurposing Concept

With the Wapato Facility under Round-op Alpha's jurisdiction the facility shall serve the exact purpose for which it was originally built and completed in 2004: to incarcerate prisoners.

This with the anticipated arrests and convictions in mind of several hundreds of high-profile and high-level criminals and conspirators in the matters of crimes against humanity; crimes against specific groups of citizens; crimes against citizens individually; crimes against peace; genocide; democide; brigandage; war crimes; government-sponsored, government-supported, government-tolerated conspiracies, terrorism, eco-terrorism; psychological warfare and fraudulent financial operations.

I.II. Specific Program

The Wapato Facility shall serve as a detention facility to house on a long-term basis high-level and high-profile convicts.

The facility shall in addition be allowed by Round-op Alpha to be extensively commercially exploited, to the fullest extent possible, by organizing and facilitating guided tours for the general public - an international audience - in and around the Wapato Facility at very competitive fees and rates; by facilitating other commercial activities including but not limited to the exploitation of a museum and a gift & souvenir shop. Several partnerships with travel agencies, hotels and transportation companies as well as copyright and franchise contracts with the international press and entertainment industries are also anticipated to emerge from this specific use of the property.

A number of concrete options have been worked out already and are on the negotiation table, although this particular information is for now regarded as trade secrets.

The generated profits derived from these commercial activities shall be forwarded to development and educational/pedagogic charitable projects located around the world.

II. Initial Investment Estimate

Considering that the facility cost $58.4 million to build, Round-op Alpha is willing to find investors for an amount that is not higher than this total cost that was required to build the Wapato Facility, in relation to the facility itself. This amount of investment of course already includes the annual costs of $300,000 that the Multnomah County has spent in the past 9 to 10 years, amounting to no more than $3,000,000 of the by us proposed $58.4 million.

An initial additional investment of $50,000,000 is envisaged to facilitate the actual commercial exploitation of the facility, including the guided tours for the general public and a museum and a gift & souvenir shop on-site as well as proper transportation docks for arriving and departing travellers, employees and visitors.

Round-op Alpha shall also apply for the Oregon income tax credit that equals to 25% (up to a maximum credit of $2 million per year for five years) of the investments related to electronic commerce such as facilities, computers, equipment, networks or software.

The total initial investment estimate for the Wapato Facility amounts to $108.4 million, for which Round-op Alpha is willing to locate investors.

III. Economic Activity and Profits

III.I. Sales

With the Wapato Facility under Round-op Alpha's jurisdiction the property is more than anticipated to be a commercial success and touristic landmark for an international audience and clientele.

The conservatively estimated annual sales deriving from the guided tours in and around the facility amounts to $3,600,000: i.e. with 1,000 visitors (paying participants) per day or 30,000 per month or 360,000 per year at $10 per person.

The conservatively estimated annual sales deriving from the museum and gift & souvenir shop amounts to $675,000: i.e. with 25% of the audience (paying participants of the guided tours) spending money at the museum and gift & souvenir shop, at $7.5 per person.

The conservatively estimated annual sales deriving from food and beverages at the facility amounts to $900,000: i.e. with 25% of the audience (paying participants of the guided tours) spending money at the restaurant/outlets, at $10 per person.

The conservatively estimated annual sales deriving from partnerships with travel agencies, hotels and transportation companies as well as advertising, copyright and franchise contracts with the international press, entertainment industries and other merchants and organizations amounts to $10,000,000.

Total conservatively estimated annual sales deriving from commercial activities: $15,175,000.

III.II. Governments Contributions and Convicts Compensations Funds

Due to the exceptional nature of the convicts their crimes and due to the high-profile and high-level status attributed to the convicts, the respective government for each convict is obligated to install a Convicts Compensations Fund that will provide the required funding to operate the Wapato Facility. Each government shall collect these required funds from the convicts themselves based upon the illegal and criminally acquired gains that the convicts have extracted from the economy and their respective government in the course of their crimes and illegal activities. In addition, the governments shall also collect damages from the convicts, caused by/deriving from the convicts their war crimes, terrorism, murder, pollution of the environment and bodily and mental harm brought upon the people through the deployment of harmful vaccination and medical products and services and harmful food products such as GMOs.

The Wapato Facility can house up to 525 convicts. Each convict should pay the respective Convicts Compensations Fund no less than $5,000,000 during the period of their incarceration which is anticipated to be 30 years per convict.

The combined total of all Convicts Compensations Funds shall therefore be no less than $2,625,000,000 in the first 30-year period of operating the Wapato Facility.

III.III. Staff and Annual Budget

Estimated total number of employees: 312

Estimated annual operating budget: $75,000,000

Estimated 30-year operating budget: $2,250,000,000 (inflation not included)

IV. Repurposing Schedule

In practice, the repurposing shall commence as soon as the first convict arrives. This date shall be not sooner than 12 months after the approval of this repurposing publication and not later than 24 months after the approval of this repurposing publication.

In the first 12 months after the approval of this repurposing publication the Wapato Facility shall be prepared for commercial exploitation, including the construction of the commercial facilities on-site.

The recruitment pool for the exploitation of the Wapato Facility shall be started in the first 12 months after the approval of this repurposing publication.

Additional commercial partnerships shall be negotiated in the first 12 months after the approval of this repurposing publication and in the course of the next 29 years when necessary.

V. Initial Repurposing Team

Project manager: Round-op Alpha S.I.N.G.JA.

Financial partners: Third party investors, national Convicts Compensations Funds (to be established)

Judicial partner: Special International Tribunal for High-Profile and High-Level Crimes (SITHHC)

VI. Finance

As stated in chapter 2, Round-op Alpha is willing to find the initial investment of $108.4 million, for the purchase of the Wapato Facility ($58.4 million) and the initial additional investment of $50,000,000 that is envisaged to facilitate the actual commercial exploitation of the property.

The funds shall be collected from third party investors and the national Convicts Compensations Funds in the event that this repurposing publication is approved.

VII. Benefits

It is estimated that the Wapato Facility under Round-op Alpha's jurisdiction shall generate at least 312 positions for employees, on-site.

The repurposed property shall contribute greatly to the local economy of Oregon, Portland, due to its positive impact on tourism and commerce because a regular, growing international audience will travel to the Wapato Facility since the incarceration of only high-profile and high-level convicts will continuously draw a lot of attention nationally, in the US, and from around the world. The property will be unique in the world, truly one of a kind, since individuals such as George Bush Jr., David Rockefeller, Hillary Clinton, Bill Clinton, Barack Obama, queen Elizabeth II and Benjamin Netanyahu will be incarcerated at the Wapato Facility.

Aside from the local economic boost and constant growth the world as a whole will also benefit largely from the repurposing of the Wapato Facility. Dozens of nations around the world will be relieved from their high-profile and high-level criminals who currently are in government offices as heads of government or heads of state. The world will finally be relieved from the most notorious band of real terrorists and murderers who already have the blood of more than 1.5 million people on their hands since 2001 alone. The world will be relieved from illegal and fraudulent tax and financial constructions, the carbon tax and accompanying ponzi scheme will finally be ruled out and deconstructed. The world will be relieved from the imperialistic iron fist of the UNEI (US/NATO/EU/Israel) alliance that has been on a deadly crusade since 9/11, 2001, completely destabilizing the international community and sovereign nations. The world will be relieved from criminal financiers that loot the public's wealth in the US, in Europe and the rest of the world. The world will be relieved from the deceptive construct that is the United Nations, responsible for genocide, human trafficking and forced prostitution. The world will be relieved from the fabricated narrative that constantly lies by blaming CO2, due to human activity, for climate change and global warming. The world will finally be able to rewrite the curriculum for the child that will allow the children of tomorrow to actually learn facts and real science, instead of being fed propaganda and fabricated historical views.

Japan will finally find justice for the eco-terror, the war crimes and the sabotage that has been brought upon them on March 11, 2011, and in the aftermath by rogue foreign government and corporate agents.

Africa will finally be able to benefit from its riches, its natural resources, without foreign occupation and brigandage.

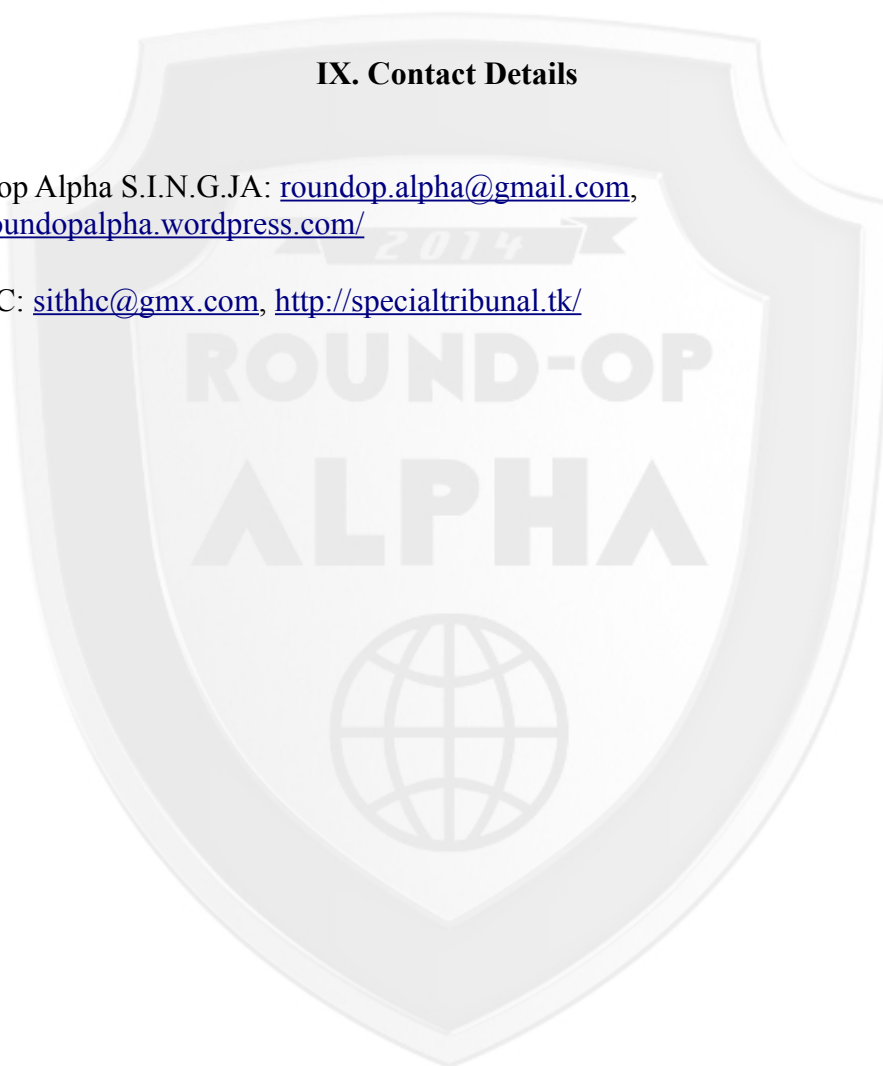

With the Wapato Facility repurposed, the people, not the government nor the military, of the United States of America can once again be proud of their nation and show the world that they truly are a beacon of liberty and justice.

This is a proposal outlining potential uses for Wapato Jail, an empty structure that could serve to benefit those inhabiting the neighborhood as a healthful garden and community rehabilitation site.

The reality is that all people need to be rehabilitated in some way, and prison environments, which isolate already alienated people from each other, function more as receptacles for society's ills than places of healing and self betterment. Using the garden--an ecological microcosm in which plant species are grown and nourished together--we propose the project outlined below. This project will transform Wapato, a site intended to oppress and suppress individuals, to a space of communal agency.

The necessities for any type of growth are very parallel. The key components of growth, or 'rehabilitation' include but are not limited to: time, space, nutritious food, care, sunlight, fresh open air, and self-directed knowledge. We understand that these are elements not traditionally incorporated into sites of incarceration in the United States of America, and that is our basis for change.

In the following letter, we will outline how each element will function in the space and how it will revolutionize the Prison Industrial Complex from this day forward.

The first element of time can be linked directly to space. Wapato would be a building like any other that provides shelter and community for people. A dedicated space conducive to creating supportive relationships to the land and its people. It would serve as protection against the harsher elements of nature and a resting spot for its inhabitants, who would be the youth of our community who are seeking just that. Each individual would take part in the revolution of the Prison Industrial Complex (PIC) in equal parts, creating a new model of incarceration based on what we learn from the land and how to make things grow.

Nutritious food, like all good things, needs time to grow. A food garden is the most important piece of the land in the new site. Taking a cue from the inmates who are currently incarcerated under the conditions of the PIC, who starve themselves in order to convey their vital messages, we would place nutritious food at the center of this revolutionary site.

The element of care can be seen as anti-Prison Industrial Complex. Crime does not involve the element of care, but neither does incarcerating an individual within the current state of the PIC. Neither action is conducive to rehabilitation, which is presumably the goal of the PIC. Every personal relationship struggles to involve this element of care, but it is incorporated into every other element in this plan.

Sunlight and fresh open air will feed the garden and it will feed the people.

The most intuitive element of our proposal is self-directed knowledge. This is based on our trust that people know what they need to learn and that they will seek it out. We will provide the resources for people to accomplish this, which will include transportation, the internet, news, and fostering agency. We will provide a space to both speak and listen.

We see this as an opportunity for reparations to be made for the specific communities who have been targeted and affected by the Prison Industrial Complex--which, in our minds, is every person in one form or another. The guidelines provided for the use of this land are simple and straightforward and they begin the process of amending, which should be the very first step of a government interested in serving the people.

Thank you for considering our offer,
the People
