Executive Summary

Residential drug treatment is an essential part of the alcohol and drug treatment continuum that impacts public safety. When residential treatment is successful for adults, the long-term collateral costs of re-arrest, re-incarceration and inadvertent consequences for the children of justice involved adults significantly declines.

Program Summary

This program supports approximately 81 beds of residential drug and alcohol treatment for high risk male and female adults and allows courts and probation/parole officers to have sanction options other than jail for those needing treatment. Fifty-four beds serve high risk adults in a facility specialized in treating males involved with the criminal justice system. The remaining beds for men are located in three residential facilities within the community. Some of these beds are reserved for specific populations (e.g., justice involved adults convicted of sex crimes, East County property offenses). This program also provides 27 residential alcohol and drug treatment beds for high risk female adults in two facilities and four beds for dependent children. The current community treatment providers have been in existence for over 20 years and work collaboratively with the Department of Community Justice (DCJ) to treat adults with addictions and criminality.

The program uses evidence-based practices to address addiction, mental health issues, parenting skills, healthy relationship dynamics, criminality, employment resources and relapse prevention counseling. Regular communication and coordination with a Parole-Probation Officer (PPO) is maintained to develop and implement treatment and supervision plans.

With the expansion of Medicaid and private forms of insurance, some clinical services previously supported by the DCJ budget are now being reimbursed through health insurance. DCJ will continue to provide funding for clinical services for those adults eligible for treatment who do not have insurance. In addition, funding is provided to support room and board costs not covered by Medicaid for all DCJ clients served by contracted services.

The National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) reports that drug abuse treatment is cost effective in reducing drug use and bringing about cost savings associated with health care, crime and incarceration. NIDA also reports that gender-specific programs may be more effective for female adults, especially those with trauma and abuse in their background (2006).
