Executive Summary

The Classification Unit is comprised of specially trained corrections deputies, whose primary function is to determine appropriate housing for adults in custody. Housing decisions are made during an in-person interview using an objective jail classification instrument at intake. Updated interviews and evaluations are done throughout the time an adult is in custody. This process assists in ensuring the safety of all adults in custody while supporting efficient management of MCSO's corrections facilities.

Program Description

The Classification Unit develops housing configurations used to create safe separations for adults in custody who have different risk and need levels. Important factors when determining appropriate housing for adults in custody include; current charge, previous behavior, as well as risk and programmatic needs. The unit's primary goal is to operate an objective classification system that provides for separations between violent and non-violent offenders and facilitates movement through administrative processes, from the most restrictive housing to the least restrictive housing. This is a critical element to ensure that the jail meets the reasonable standard of care required by the United States Constitution.

Best practice has shown that utilizing an objective classification process is key. This process creates a structure that allows individuals who require special housing or have special needs to be housed in an environment with those of like needs. Adults in custody who create the potential for compromising safety and security are housed in more restrictive environments with enhanced security as appropriate. The objective classification process is also designed to identify programmatic needs and provide adequate services and programs to assist in custody adults in building positive life-skills with the ultimate goal of successful re-entry into the community.

Finally, the Classification Unit is also responsible to provide an in-house disciplinary process that is fair and balanced to maintain proper order in the corrections facilities, as well as to promote human values, individual dignity, and socially desirable changes in attitude and behavior.
