

Navigating the Journey: Legal issues for family caregivers

Certified Elder Law Attorney, Garvin Reiter, J.D., with the Law Offices of Nay & Friedenberg LLC, will cover the legal and financial topics a caregiver should know when caring for a loved one. Topics range from basic estate planning such as wills and trusts, Power of Attorney and Advance Directives for Healthcare, to more complex issues such as long-term care cost planning, Medicaid eligibility, and asset protection options. The event will include attendee input for discussion on the most pressing issues they are facing during this challenging time.

About Garvin Reiter, J.D.

(Lewis and Clark School of Law, 1996) Garvin has specialized in elder law, i.e. public assistance benefits planning, special needs planning, guardianship, conservatorship, trust administration, probate and estate planning, with an emphasis on legal issues faced by the elderly and individuals with disabilities, for 20 years. He has been designated as a “Certified Elder Law Attorney” by the National Elder Law Foundation, which requires a demonstration of expertise in these areas of the law, as established by peer recognition and a full-day certification exam. Garvin is a past member of the Executive Committee of the Elder Law Section of the Oregon State Bar, and has been a presenter at CLE events for the Elder Law section of the Oregon State Bar, and a supplement author of the Oregon State Bar’s Elder Law publication.
