Homelessness in Portland is beyond crisis levels. And housing prices are unaffordable to working families.

The Mayor declared a state of emergency three years and tens of millions of dollars ago, and yet everyday homelessness gets worse, spreading to every neighborhood – including yours. It's clear current city leaders lack the vision, experience, and basic planning skills to get us out of this. That's why I'm running for City Council.

My Portland Home Project will end homelessness in Portland in 4 years, and get everyone sheltered and off the streets in 2 years. Had enough? Join these civic leaders and others in supporting my candidacy so we can accelerate the work to end homelessness NOW!

Respectfully,
-Stuart Emmons

"Housing and homelessness are Portland's #1 challenge. Stuart is the only candidate with expertise designing and building housing for working folks and people experiencing homelessness, and the demonstrated commitment to frontline communities. We need BOTH to solve this problem."

Sue Gemmell

"Architect Stuart Emmons offers skills that would benefit the council and the city, not the least of which is his experience of putting roofs over people's heads inexpensively and quickly..."

The Oregonian, April 23, 2016

"I'm endorsing Stuart Emmons because he has been a long-time leader working with all of our communities to make sure more voices are heard."

Juan Rogel

There's no one in city government with more experience and knowledge of housing and homelessness than I have. We need more expertise not less, and we need more passion and urgency in making Portland Home for All of Us.
