Executive Summary

The County’s internal and external websites are digital assets that provide the community with direct access to services, information, business workflows, and other applications. The technology upon which they are built is aging and becoming a security risk. The current websites lack a service-orientation where audiences of all abilities can quickly access digital services, conduct business and easily find information. This program establishes the strategy and approach to transform the websites and seeks input from the community, County leadership, departments, and staff to design an equitable website that is accessible and available to all.

Program Description

The program’s goal is to lay the groundwork to transform the County’s existing information-focused, internal and external websites. This program focuses on community and internal stakeholder engagement and supports the County’s focus on revised mission, vision and values. The design and development process will use human-centered design principles and target both the internal (employee experience) and external websites (community experience), as well as the editor experiences for both.

This project began in FY 2024 and may carryover into FY 2025 for the completion of the final deliverables. The output of this program will include summary information from key County stakeholders, the community, and the County’s design team. The output will include a detailed project plan that outlines the scope, resources, design review process, and timeline to complete the transformation. The plan will include expectations and responsibilities of departments across the County, and will provide the time necessary for internal and external stakeholders to identify, archive and remove obsolete information and validate the usability of our websites.

Per the County’s Language, Communication and Cultural Access Policy, this program meets the objective to advance equity and reduce disparities by providing a welcoming web presence that functions as a virtual front door to the County’s service offerings.

The program will fund the resources necessary to develop the website digital transformation strategy. The program will be led by the expertise and knowledge of the IT Enterprise Web team. A follow-on program offer will be prepared for FY2025 and FY 2026 to complete the work outlined in the transformation strategy.
