Summary

1. SSSES agencies are serving their intended group of youth at risk of poor academic outcomes because of barriers associated with poverty, race/ethnicity and language.
2. Students participated in an average of a little over 1 hour/week of case management, skill-building and education related services ( 1.1 hours). ${ }^{8}$ If recreation is included the average was 1.3 hours/week).
3. Students are making progress in reading and math as measured by the OAKS reading and math tests.

- The SSSES target for improvement is $75 \%$. This year $74 \%$ of students made gains in reading and $65 \%$ made gains in math.
- Half were below the benchmark ( $41 \%$ met or exceeded the reading benchmark and $38 \%$ met or exceeded the math benchmark).
- However, a substantial number of students who had a growth target because they did not meet their benchmark(s) last year, met their growth targets this year ( $40 \%$ in reading and $35 \%$ in math).
- Considering that the number of points required to meet or exceed the reading benchmark was raised this year, $6^{\text {th }}$ and $7^{\text {th }}$ grade students in SSSES exceeded expected gains.

4. SSSES students attended an average of $88.8 \%$ of required school days which is below the contractual target of $90 \%$, the state benchmark of $92 \%$ and last year's attendance (90.4\%). Almost one third of the students (29\%), are classified as chronically absent due to missing more than $10 \%$ of required school days.
5. High school students made significant progress in earning credits, averaging 5.6 credits during the school year (down from 6.8 in FY 10-11 but up from 5.1 in FY: 09-10).
6. Seniors participating in SSSES did not fare as well this year compared to the last 2 years, $41 \%$ graduated (compared to 60\% in FY 10-11 and 53\% in FY 09-10).

[^4]7. SSSES high school students, who are significantly at risk of dropping out of school, were highly likely to re-enter school in the fall: $89 \%$ of $9^{\text {th }}$ to $11^{\text {th }}$ grade students returned and almost half ( $46 \%$ ) of the $12^{\text {th }}$ grade students that didn't earn enough credits to graduate, returned for a $5^{\text {th }}$ year of high school. However, a significant number of the seniors (32\%) dropped out.
8. Students made progress across six types of case management goals. Each of the goals was partially or fully met by $90 \%$ or more of the students who set that goal. Students were most likely to fully meet goals relating to improving social skills ( $71 \%$ ) and academic performance (64\%).

Trends

1. Younger students are progressing on the OAKS at a higher rate than older students. Almost half (47\%) of pre-teens met or exceeded their reading benchmark with an average gain of 4.75 points compared to almost one third (30\%) of teens with an average gain of 2.92 points. The percent of students meeting or exceeding their math benchmark was $41 \%$ for pre-teens and $31 \%$ for teens; average gains were 4.65 compared to 0.96 respectively.
2. Average attendance was lower this year (89) than in the past two years ( 90 and 91 respectively). The percent of students who were chronically absent however was lower than last year; 29\% compared to $33 \%$ in 201011 and $34 \%$ in 2009-10.
3. Seniors participating in SSSES did not fare as well this year compared to the last 2 years, only $41 \%$ graduated (compared to $60 \%$ in FY 10-11 and 53\% in FY 09-10).

    ${ }^{6}$ Scores needed to meet or exceed benchmarks on the reading test have been raised this year to ensure that students are prepared for the more rigorous Common Core State Standards. As a result, fewer students met or exceeded reading benchmarks than last year.

[^4]:    8 Both type of service and amount of service vary widely according to provider and population being served. Some agencies focus services on education, and others solely provide case management. Among culturally specific providers, in addition to cultural differences between students, some of the providers served younger students.
