Progressive Values. Dedicated Advocate. Collaborative Leader.

Chloe is a small business owner and community activist who has devoted the past 25 years to progressive causes -- most notably disability rights and affordable housing advocacy -- and over two decades to Portland's literary and art community through her mission-driven bookshop and as co-founder of the Independent Publishing Resource Center.

"She represents a segment of Portland that no one else on the city council does." -- Former <sup>Portland</sup> City Auditor LaVonne Griffin-Valade, Willamette Week, 8/30/16

Portland needs a Commissioner who understands the urgent needs of our city, knows how to prioritize while working with a tight budget, and puts people before profit.

"Chloe stands up for the health of our communities and our environment. We need more commissioners who are connected to the grassroots." -- Bob Sallinger, conservation

activist advocate

Affordable Housing for All: Portland needs rent stabilization, just cause evictions, increased investments in affordable housing, and a housing first approach to homelessness.

Environmental Justice & Jobs: Clean up of the Portland Harbor and adoption of a resilient, clean energy economy will provide economic opportunities for local businesses and create living-wage jobs.

Equity and Inclusion: Only two people of color and seven women have ever served on City Council. Portland needs new leadership that better reflects its growing diversity and commitment to social justice.

Open and Accountable Elections: We need an alternative to corporate politics that will decrease the barriers to participation in our city government for candidates who pledge to keep monied interests out of their campaigns.

“Eudaly would bring a fresh perspective and a deep-rooted passion to city government...” -- Portland Mercury
