Since 2011, when the W.H.O. declared microwave radiation from all wireless devices a Class 2B Carcinogen, there has been no effort to get microwave emitting Wi-Fi routers and cell towers out of schools or to inform citizens of health risks and methods to reduce exposure. Children and pregnant women are the most vulnerable. HB 3350 was introduced to inform parents and school staff their work and study environment is "Possibly Carcinogenic:" http://www.iarc.fr/en/media-centre/pr/2011/pdfs/pr208_E.pdf

World Health Organization Doctor, Anthony Miller, warns: "Waiting for governments to update decades old regulations will be too late for children exposed to microwave radiation in classrooms, Wi-Fi networks and cell towers at school, could significantly increase cancer risk in your community.

The Portland City Council should assemble a committee of scientists, doctors, parents, educators and public policy makers to review the current science and inform the public of their findings. Example: Parents and children deserve to know that 35 studies showing reproductive harm have been published: Cell phone manuals advise keeping the phone 1" from the body.

Additionally wireless technology has the largest energy footprint of all industries! The average I-phone uses more energy yearly than modern refrigerators. Climate change discussion should include a less device use policy to lower exposure, save energy and lessen the need for cell towers.

The City Council could do more to keep cell towers from residential neighborhoods. Portland could work with other cities in crafting a legal framework to challenge the FCC to regain local control over cell tower siting. http://bit.ly/1LvoOu0
