

Exhibit U – Photo Proof of Farm Work

Moving chicken coop to new pasture area

Working with my boys getting ready for another batch of layers

Putting the eggs into cartons

Building a new barn

Evening check on goats

Moving young herd of goats to new pasture area

Getting straw bedding supply ready for goat kidding season

Building new fences

Delivered a set of twin goats in the field with the boys

Storing bags of feed

Seeding pasture

Fixing tractor

Hooking up the disc

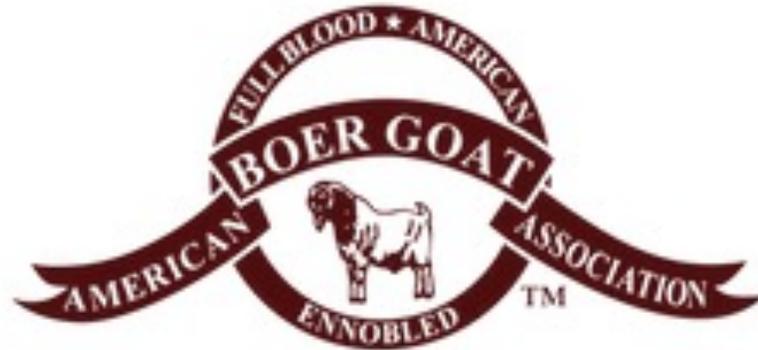

Checking on my the herd buck "Bucky"

Evening check on registered does

Scott Reed's farm memberships

Scott Reed nominated to the Multnomah County Farm Bureau in 2021

Home About Our Approach Benefits Join Us Contact

Find A Farm

Resources

Al Garre - Board Director

Al's grandfather started the family farm in northeast Portland in 1920. Al took over the operation in 1984. The family farm has always grown fresh market vegetables. Since Al entered semi-retirement in 2018, the farm has produced a small amount of herbs. Al became an MCFB member when he took over the farm in 1984. It was around that same time that he joined the MCFB Board. His current term as a Board Director expires in 2020. Al has always tried to actively support OFB and MCFB but feels he has gotten more out of the organization than he has given to it. It is Al's firm belief that OFB and MCFB do more for family farms than any other group. Al received his Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering in 1971 from Oregon State University.

Scott Reed - Board Director

Scott and his wife, Stacy, own and operate Springwood Acres farm in the northwest hills of Portland. The Reeds with their four children maintain flocks of pastured raised laying hens and a breeding herd of Boer goats. Scott obtained a B.A. in Economics and Political Science from the University of California, Davis in 1999. In 2021, he was elected to the MCFB Board Directors.

Deniece Tucker - Treasurer

Deniece was born and raised on her family's farm located east of Troutdale near the Sandy River. The property was homesteaded in 1853 and has been farmed since 1952. Deniece and her family historically raised cattle and grew raspberries but converted to growing nursery stock in 2001 due to market changes. A member of the Multnomah County Farm Bureau since 1999, Deniece joined the

Multnomah County Farm Bureau meeting at Rossi Farms

Reed family on the farm

