'Optional Information'

The business of college is education. Education is a service industry. Educational success is measured in the lives of students and in the vitality of the community. As a member of the Mt. Hood Community College board, I will work to ensure a student centered education that serves students by preparing them for their respective goals.

55

Mt. Hood serves a wide variety of constituencies. It is not an environment where a one-size-fits-all approach can be successful. As a board member, I will promote an adaptable and flexible environment providing a practical education that prepares each individual for integration into the work force, or continued education.

52

Rising tuition has placed the cost of college out of reach for too many students. Fiscal responsibility requires that funding be primarily directed towards the college's primary function: education. In order to lessen the burden on students, I will work to identify and develop sources of funding for student aid.

50

As an instructor I initiated a paid internship program for our students. I will work to find more opportunities to supplement education outside the classroom, and to network our students in the community. Mt. Hood should be the first place employers think of for new hires.

46

Mt. Hood also serves a wider community of four year universities. I will work to create closer connections with them to ensure a seamless educational experience for our students.

29

My leadership experience includes founding several performing groups, a community college in Africa, serving on a board of education, and administering the Northwest Orchestra Festival. My experience includes 25 years of teaching. My breadth of experience and my specific knowledge of Mt. Hood Community College qualify me uniquely for this position. I will hit the ground running.
