For many, running for local office is a stepping stone to something greater. For me, this opportunity is about giving back—a promissory note to the community that invested in me as an 18-year-old and helped shape the person I am today.

Mt. Hood Community College changed the trajectory of my life. It gave me the tools, mentorship, and encouragement to lead—and now I want to ensure every student who walks through its doors has that same opportunity.

I’m running for the MHCC Board with clear goals:

Work to ensure MHCC remains affordable and accessible for all:

I’ll advocate for keeping tuition within reach, expanding dual credit programs, and building strong partnerships to support scholarships and hands-on training for working adults and first-generation students.

Rebuild trust with staff, faculty, students, and the community:

I will prioritize transparency, collaboration, and consistent communication—ensuring people feel heard, valued, and supported.

Deliver results that matter to students:

We must improve graduation rates and career placement by strengthening career technical education, expanding apprenticeships, and aligning programs with real workforce needs—so every student sees value in their investment.

Mt. Hood doesn’t just prepare students for the classroom. It prepares them for life. I know, because I lived it.

“As an alumnus of the college and former elected official, Larry brings a wealth of knowledge and lived experience that will help the board and college align more closely with the needs of our community.”
