District 2 deserves a county government that delivers.

I am a father, pastor, small business owner, community leader and longtime District 2 resident. For more than 30 years, I have worked with families, schools, businesses and community organizations to solve problems and build opportunity.

I am running for County Commissioner because housing, public safety, affordability and economic opportunity are connected. We need practical leadership that measures results and makes government work better.

My ABCs for a Better Multnomah County:

Accountability & Affordability

- Set measurable housing-retention goals
- Use performance-based contracts
- Publish timelines, spending and results

Government must be accountable to the people it serves.

Business Growth & Jobs

- Connect County investments to job creation
- Expand pathways into living-wage careers
- Partner with employers, labor and apprenticeship programs
- Remove barriers to work

The strongest housing policy is a paycheck.

Community Safety & Livability

- Coordinate crisis response, treatment and housing
- Intervene earlier to reduce repeat crises
- Support frontline workers with better systems
- Publicly report safety outcomes

Safety requires systems that function.

On the Portland Public Schools Board, I asked tough questions, navigated difficult budgets and focused on students historically left behind. In community work, I created mentoring, literacy and workforce opportunities for young people.

This election is about whether the county government can produce better results. I believe it can.
